
From: David Stern [REDACTED]
Sent: Tuesday, March 10, 2015 10:41 AM
To: Jeffrey Epstein

He was more drunk, standing with us, when Ariane walked past....

March 10, 2015 10:17 am

New Credit Suisse boss has plenty of challenges in his in-tray

Martin Arnold

@Bloomberg

Tidjane Thiam described Credit Suisse as "an exceptional business" with "a solid strategy and strong momentum" as the Prudential chief executive was unveiled as the Swiss bank's new boss on Tuesday morning.

But once the 52-year-old takes over from Brady Dougan at Credit Suisse in June, he will face a string of challenges to reverse the relative underperformance of the bank in recent years. A 7 per cent jump in the lender's shares on Monday shows that investors are optimistic he is up to the job. Here are the main issues awaiting Mr Thiam.

=